VI. Chair’s Report

Dr. Boudinot stated the the Graduate School is going through a restructuring phase and would like comments/suggestions/feedback on what the Graduate School should be working on. The following restructuring has taken place:

Dr. Sherry Sandkam retired at the end of July. She has returned on a part time basis to develop a communications strategy/plan for the Graduate School.

The Graduate School, along with the Honors College, has hired a development officer to raise money for student funding.

Lori Floyd-Miller is the new coordinator of student services and will work with students from recruitment to graduation and alumni status.

A new administration assistant for the Graduate School will be hired shortly. Three people were interviewed this week from a pool of 274 applications.

Blair Brown resigned as director of Graduate Admissions. Lisa Dougherty is the new director.
